RSPCA and cops swoop

THE RSPCA and Thames Valley Police officers swooped on a property belonging to a woman who owns snakes, tarantulas and ferrets yesterday, according to residents on a city estate.

Police were seen at the home in Summergill Court, Heelands, during the afternoon and MK NEWS understands the woman was arrested for animal cruelty, but police were unable to confirm this before we went to print last night.

Neighbours named her as Shelley Reed, who is known to house a number of animals.

Dawn Bewsher, who lives next door to the property, was shocked to return home to find the police and RSPCA there, while another neighbour said officers were on site from lunchtime until about 5pm.

A spokesman for the RSPCA said: "The RSPCA can't confirm or deny whether we've had a complaint about a person until such a time as a decision has been made to bring a prosecution."

Residents on scam alert

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Trading Standards is warning residents to be on their guard after an elderly man was targeted by a conman.

Sue Crawley, Trading Standards' team manager, has told MK NEWS it was very likely to have been an attempt to get financial details from the OAP.

A caller knocked on the door of the home in Bradville but left when the man, who was upstairs watching from a window, could not get downstairs in time. No leaflet or calling card was left.

Within an hour, the resident took a call, from a mobile, from a man claiming to be called John Harris working for Milton Keynes Council's Trading Standards team.

The man claimed they had raided a trader's records and found the resident's details in the file.

He also claimed that Trading Standards had taken a lot of money from the trader and he wanted to reimburse the resident for the money he had paid out for roofing work four years earlier. The resident had in fact had some work done on the roof previously.

The man wanted to visit the resident's home and pick him up, take him to the office to sign some paperwork and hand over the cash. But the resident put off the caller, who said he would ring back later once he had thought about it.

A further call was received within the hour from the same mobile number, which the resident ignored.

Mrs Crawley said: "Needless to say this was not someone from Milton Keynes Council's Trading Standards Department and it is very likely to have been a scam to attempt to obtain financial details from the resident.

"Residents need to be on their guard for this type of incident. If in doubt, do not open your door to someone, always ask for ID and, if you're still unhappy, don't let them in and if you feel the need, call the police."

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police added: "These criminals use the element of surprise to confuse their victims and the advice is to stop, think and take time to consider what you are being told.

"You should never give your bank or building society details to anyone who calls at your door or on the phone.

"If you are concerned or worried call the police on 101."

Fears over school traffic

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

RESIDENTS have warned there is an 'accident waiting to happen' after claiming the traffic outside a school in Bletchley is 'out of control'.

Those living in Saffron Street and Tiffany Close say the number of cars at The Premier Academy (TPA) during school hours is having a large impact on their lives and they are worried it will get worse if it accepts more students from outside the area.

Michael Willis, from Tiffany Close, told councillors at Milton Keynes Council's cabinet meeting on Monday night: "This is having a severe influence on residents' lives and we have to restrict our movements."

And Lynn Poinsettia added: "This is an accident waiting to happen."

The issue was brought to the cabinet's attention by the councillor for Bletchley East, Alan Webb, who said it is 'out of control'.

Cllr Norman Miles, the cabinet member responsible for school improvement, said: "It sounds like the worst example in Milton Keynes.

"The Premier Academy is independent to the council, but I will do what I can and speak to TPA. As a teacher I do think it is important for schools to have good relationships with residents."

A planning application for on-site parking was submitted by TPA in 2012 but the council rejected it.

CEO of TPA Warren Harrison said: "I wasn't aware of a meeting [on Monday], which is ironic as the school and police have repeatedly invited the residents' association for meetings.

"I think it is important to note that it is the minority of residents and the vast majority are supportive.

"There is congestion for about 15 minutes in the morning and at the end of the day. I wouldn't say it was any worse than other schools."

Upset: Residents say something needs to be done about parking near The Premier Academy in Bletchley

E-fit of man who held knife to teenager

AN E-FIT has been released after a 13-year-old boy was threatened with a knife and robbed by a man flanked by three of his mates.

At about 8pm on September 20, the teenager was cycling with friends along the redway on the edge of Westcroft playing field, near Cranborne Avenue, in the direction of Kingsmead. When he got to a junction on the redway, he saw four men ahead of him.

As the boy cycled past the group, one of the men grabbed hold of his left shoulder and pulled him off his bike. The man then kicked the teenager on his left hip as he lay on the floor.

The same man then approached the boy with a small knife, which he held to his face before picking up the bike and cycling off in the direction of Tattenhoe.

The man in the E-fit, below, is black, in his mid to late teens, around 5ft 10ins with dark coloured eyes.

Celebs promote new books

HUNDREDS of people flocked to the city's shopping centres this week to see two celebrities.

Polish only ads 'against policy'

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

FRANKIE & Benny's has said it has taken action after a job advertisement for kitchen cleaners in Kingston was only advertised in Polish.

A white A4 sheet was posted on the restaurant's door detailing jobs that were available in the kitchen – but it was written only in Polish with no advert in English to be seen.

The advert was spotted by MK NEWS reader Ian Wilson, who said: "I had dinner at Frankie & Benny's in Kingston last week and saw this Polish language advert in the window.

"There was no English equivalent displayed, so I took a snap. It's interesting that a successful business is not advertising in English so everyone can apply – not just Polish people."

The restaurant, which has an American and Italian food theme, recently opened as part of a new complex that also includes Nando's, Chiquito, Prezzo, Giraffe and Caffe Nero.

A restaurant spokesman told MK NEWS: "Frankie & Benny's has a strict recruitment policy that is non-discriminatory and is based on equal opportunities for all.

"The placement of this advert was made outside company policy and appropriate action has been taken."

WHAT YOU SAID:

Gary Eccles: "Maybe it's because they know that the Polish work ethic is far superior to our own."
Jacqui Galvin: "It makes me so mad that we can be discriminated against and nothing happens if it is the other way round."
Phil Jones: "Brits can be lazy and lots wouldn't like a job cleaning pots."
Janet Smith: "I hope people boycott this place – it's disgusting!"
Chris Fodden: "Wrong on so many levels."

FIREFIGHTERS rescued a stuck cow in the banks of the River Great Ouse in Newport Pagnell after it tired in its escape bid.

Police highlight hate crime

POLICE officers were out in Central Milton Keynes on Saturday night to raise awareness of hate crime.

New statistics have shown a rise in these crimes and officers are trying to encourage victims experiencing hate crime to report it.

The Twitter hashtag #WeStandTogether is also being used to raise awareness.

In June, Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) Anthony Stansfeld commissioned a third party reporting mechanism for hate crime, which people can use by calling 01908 606828.

Store cleared after alert

FIREFIGHTERS were unable to find the source of smoke that caused a store to be evacuated on Sunday.

Staff cleared the Boots store in the centre:mk at 8.45am while crews tried to find the cause of the problem.

A store spokesman said the smoke was coming from the air conditioning unit but nothing could be found and after tests the store opened for trading at 11.15am.

The shop had been due to open at 11am.

I READ with sadness your report in last week's MK NEWS entitled 'Shock rise in homeless'.

I owned a house in multiple occupation (HiMO) in Wolverton for 13 years with no complaints.

It was a comfortable home to six adults until 2013 when I was forced by MK Council to make six adults homeless because I did not have enough parking spaces (I needed five spaces).

Where in all of Milton Keynes can you find large enough houses to accommodate five cars? The better off neighbourhoods and the poor estates near the city centre is the answer.

The council commissioned an ORS survey in 2010 which concluded that 40 per cent of the occupants of HiMOs have no access to cars, more so in older estates (like Wolverton) where their work would be closer.

However, MK Council insists on a higher parking capacity for HiMOs than single dwelling houses. (Bare in mind that a new four or five-bed house in Milton Keynes may house a family where the children have left shool and all occupants including mum, dad and the children may all own a car).

You may recall that MK Council took the new Conservative coalition government to the High Court in December 2011. It took legal action, and lost, based on 'no proper consultation' from Westminster when they changed the law declaring that HiMOs did not need planning permission nationwide.

In response many councils, including Milton Keynes, brought into effect Article 4 directions requiring HiMOs to get planning permission locally. The result, in my opinion, was that scores of landlords (like me) who rented out affordable rooms to hundreds of MK citizens left Milton Keynes and as such, the fall in affordable room rental has contributed to the homeless issue.

Is it a coincidence that the homeless figure has grown since the Article 4 directions were implemented?...Just a thought.

Praise for Age UK MK

CONGRATULATIONS to Milton Keynes Age UK for organising a great event celebrating the International Day of Older Persons (IDOP) on October 1 at The Rose and The Sports Bar in Campbell Park.

The event included an informative speech by Paul Griffiths, Age UK MK, an amusing poem read by Peter Ballantyne, an excellent musical contribution from Ian Anderson and superb refreshments.

The IDOP was designated by the United Nations in 1991, to celebrate the skills and achievements of older people and to applaud the contribution that they make to society. It is also an opportunity to promote positive images of older people.

The IDOP has not yet established itself on the calendars of all major MK agencies, but after this successful event, let us hope that MK Council, the MK Health family, the third sector, the private sector and other partners will join with Milton Keynes Age UK to ensure that celebrating the IDOP becomes a permanent feature on the MK landscape.

THE incredible tale of a boy from Bletchley who went on to create some of the most iconic stage costumes in the world has been told in a new movie by local documentary maker Lee Scriven.

Starman – The Man Who Sewed The World is the true story of schoolboy Fred Burrett and his family who moved to Bletchley from London in the early 70s.

Made on a shoestring budget over a two year period, the film has been a labour of love for Lee and received its first airing at a charity premiere in aid of Willen Hospice at the Odeon cinema on Thursday.

With tunes and movie clips from the era, intertwined with cleverly filmed reconstructions, Scriven successfully paints a picture of the boy with an eye for fashion who went on to become Freddie Burretti, the designer credited for creating outfits and costumes for David Bowie.

By tracking down former school friends, teachers and relatives, we get a glimpse into the hedonistic world of Bowie at the start of his incredible career and the journey he takes with Freddie as he 'breaks' America.

Freddie, who was known as one of the most stylish men in London, moved in with Angie and David Bowie and attended top award ceremonies – often picking up gongs on behalf of Bowie himself.

But, as his brother reveals, Freddie appeared to turn his back on Bletchley, and his family, who lost contact with him.

Made with the blessing of Bowie himself, the film is a triumph in documentary storytelling and the viewer is hooked until the end, desperate to find out what became of the schoolboy from Bletchley.

Lee describes the film as a 'demo', which is now in the process of being packaged and sent to Bowie's 'people' in the hope the great man himself will contribute directly to this remarkable story.

Raid scene: Police cars outside Waitrose yesterday

Ramraiders attack supermarket

THREE men wearing balaclavas and hoodies are believed to have carried out a ramraid during the early hours of yesterday morning.

Police were called to the Waitrose store in Babbage Gate, Oakgrove, at about 2.46am following reports of an attempt to steal a cash machine inside the store.

A Waitrose spokesman said: "Thankfully no-one was injured and the police must be praised for their quick response.

"We are supporting them with their investigation and have passed on CCTV footage.

"Our partners worked hard to ensure we could continue to open today [Tuesday] and we are grateful to our customers for their understanding."

If you saw anything that might help police with their investigation call 101.

Despair of mum made homeless

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A HOMELESS mum who has been separated from her children for more than three weeks is worried about her health.

Mum-of-three Tanya Brown was moved to temporary accommodation in Peterborough on September 22 by Milton Keynes Council's housing office after her landlord sold her property.

The 36-year-old, who was renting in Hodge Lea with her 15-year-old son, had to leave him with his father and her other two children so he could go to school.

She said: "As soon as the landlord gave me eight weeks' notice I contacted the council who said they would find me somewhere to live within eight weeks, but it was only on the day we had to leave that they offered me a Travelodge in Peterborough.

"I have spent £60 of my phone credit trying to get hold of the council to find out if they have found me anywhere in Milton Keynes.

"But I was told by the hotel instead that my room booking had been extended to October 28.

"It is heartbreaking being away from my family. I have suffered with depression after losing my mum a year ago, which has been made worse by not being home for her anniversary."

Miss Brown, who is looking for a three-bed property in the city for her, her son and her live-in carer, added: "I may not be able to be put in a house yet but at least a Travelodge in MK.

"Surely it is common courtesy for the council to update me, not me having to find out from the hotel."

At a recent meeting of the council's homelessness task and finish group, councillors raised concerns over how homeless people were prioritised and what defined them as vulnerable.

Chairman Councillor Chris Williams admitted: "I am not convinced the policy is right."

The housing office failed to provide a comment before this paper went to print.

THOUSANDS of people have signed a petition and a public meeting is being held in an attempt to save The Buszy.

The community centre based at the former bus station is currently run by Make a Difference (MaD), a group that organises disabled youth clubs and adult education classes, as well as leisure events for younger people.

But as MK NEWS reported last week, Milton Keynes Development Partnership (MKDP) is taking control of the car park and the building and MaD will cease operating from The Buszy in November.

In a draft parking strategy, the site is identified by Milton Keynes Council as a potential place to erect decking – a second level of car parking that would create 40 extra spaces.

After hearing the news, Milton Keynes People's Assembly organised a meeting to try to save the site, inviting people to gather at The Buszy Café tomorrow at 6.30pm.

A petition, calling on the council to overturn MKDP's decision, was launched on Friday and has already gained more than 2,000 signatures.

Kevin Vickers, chairman of Milton Keynes People's Assembly, said: "It is shocking that MKDP, owned by MK Council, has taken the decision to effectively close down The Buszy.

"We encourage local people to stand up and demand an end to a culture that puts profit before people."

Charles Macdonald, chief executive of MKDP, said: "The termination of Make a Difference's lease was as a result of our aim to regularise arrangements revealed as part of our ongoing review of the property portfolio under MKDP's management.

"We value the work and activities currently undertaken at The Buszy building and are keen to help users to continue."

Council 'committed to helping groups'

MILTON Keynes Council has said it 'remains committed' to ensuring services are run out of The Buszy – as it released a detailed statement clarifying its position in the row.

The statement reads: "Any discussion between Milton Keynes Development Partnership and Make a Difference on the terms and conditions of Make a Difference's occupancy of The Buszy are a matter for those two organisations.

"Milton Keynes Council had previously said that in the event that Make a Difference and Milton Keynes Development Partnership did not reach an agreement, we would stand ready to offer Make a Difference help and support.

"Milton Keynes Council remains committed to ensuring services currently running out of The Buszy – provided either by Make a Difference or any other organisation – are given every opportunity to be able to continue for the benefit of the people of Milton Keynes in the future."

WHAT YOU SAID ABOUT THE BUSZY:

Jenny Baker: "Yes, it will be missed and an even bigger shame that the charity will now suffer. Sort it out MK Council!"

Amanda Pople: "This is a massive loss for the community. I'm so disappointed in Milton Keynes Council."

Danielle Walmsley: "Can the council not build the extra 40 spaces here and let Buszy keep the revenue from the extra spaces?"

Clare Evans: "What a stupid decision, lots of young people use it. Love seeing all the skateboarders there – where will they go?"

Michael Husky: "Well done, taking some more of the little soul this city has."

Drinkers set to down beer and cider

DESPITE the uncertainty surrounding the building's future, the 22nd Concrete Pint Beer and Cider Festival kicks off today at The Buszy.

Beers and ciders from three Milton Keynes breweries will be part of the offering, after Bucks Star in Stonebridge and Hornes in Bow Brickhill opened this year.

The third is Virtual Orchard in Wolverton.

Running until Saturday, 90 beers and 25 ciders will be available to buy.

Popular local musicians The Band will also be performing their final gig on Saturday night.

Jon Scudamore, festival organiser, said: "They have actually regrouped especially for our event to perform their farewell gig."

The festival will be open from 5-11pm today, noon-11pm tomorrow and Saturday and noon to midnight on Friday.

Admission is £3 after 5pm Thursday and Friday, but free at other times. For more details about the festival, visit www.thebuszy.com

A cappella choir: Laura Maclean Townshend is welcoming beatboxers as well as singers. Inset: TV choirmaster Gareth Malone

TV's Gareth sings praises of choir

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

CHOIRMASTER Gareth Malone has praised a new a cappella choir.

Olney mum Laura Maclean Townshend helped set up The Acapelicans following The Naked Choir series on BBC2.

It had its first rehearsal last night at Olney Baptist Church and welcomes singers, beat boxers and music lovers.

Backing the group, Gareth Malone said: "I am absolutely thrilled that people are responding so positively to the series and to a cappella singing. Best of luck and maybe next year there'll be some a cappella champions from Milton Keynes."

After posting her idea to set up a choir on a community Facebook page, which had a huge response, Mrs Townshend is hoping it will be a success.

Rehearsals at the church will be held every Tuesday from 7.30pm with a small weekly cost of around £5, depending on numbers, to cover the venue hire.

The first song the choir is learning is Lean On Me by Bill Withers.

Mrs Townshend said: "I think the only thing that people need to know is that it will be more of a collaborative project rather than a structured choir.

"People will need to be confident enough at singing, that they can sing in tune without accompaniment.

"Also it's a chance for people to bring ideas along and improvise. Beat boxers are also welcome as well as singers. It's open to adults of all ages and both men and women."

Kind act leaves mother in tears

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A MUM was brought to tears by a random act of kindness by managers at a city supermarket.

Joanna Johnson, 36, from Bletchley, was having a really bad day with her 16-month-old son Flynn, who had a cold, a really high temperature and was teething.

After refusing to eat all day, Mrs Johnson took Flynn to Waitrose, in Oakgrove, in a bid to entice him with a treat for his tea.

After opening a cake on the walk around the store to calm Flynn down, Mrs Johnson went to the check-out with that evening's dinner to discover she had left her purse at home.

Speaking to MK NEWS she said: "I left in such a fluster I got to the till and knew exactly where I had left it.

"Because I had opened a banana malt loaf for Flynn, I had a picture of a security guard with a hand of my shoulder."

Mrs Johnson rushed over to store manager Stephen Bushell and customer service manager Kate Hattersley.

Burst out crying: Joanna Johnson, who was shopping in Waitrose with her son Flynn

"Kate just told me to take the cake and my lip started to go.

"After Steve noticed it was my dinner for that night he told me to take it all and I just burst out crying.

"I never thought anything like this would actually happen and they were both so kind.

"I did go back the next day to pay and give them a thank you card.

"The staff just went above and beyond."

Mrs Johnson shared her experience on Waitrose's Facebook page and the post has had more than 1,100 shares and 16,000 likes.

Matt Holmes, department's manager at Waitrose in Oakgrove, said: "We know how stressful life can be sometimes, so we were delighted to have been able to help Joanna and to have made a difficult day that little bit easier for her."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes & Leighton Buzzard areas and Billy is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

Woman injured in a dog attack

BY CHRIS KNIGHT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A WOMAN needed hospital treatment after she was attacked by a dog.

Nicky Palmer-Trew, 36, of Mill Road, Bletchley, received eight puncture wounds from what is thought to have been a Staffordshire bull terrier while trying to defend her Jack Russell Dylan and chihuahua Liza.

The attack took place on Thursday at about 5.30pm at Waterhall Park, where Nicky was taking her dogs on their regular walk.

She said: "I saw two older ladies approaching us with a greyhound on a lead and a Jack Russell and Staffie-type [dog] walking free.

"I shouted over to them that Dylan doesn't like bigger dogs and tried walking round them on the grass, but the dog came up to us and was very boisterous – he would not leave Dylan alone.

"I asked the woman to put the dog on a lead and she said it would be fine and that's when it attacked. I scooped Dylan into my arms and kicked the dog back.

Recovering: Nicky Palmer-Trew pictured with her dogs Dylan and Liza following the attack in which they were injured

"She came over and put the dog on the lead. We started to walk away, but the dog broke his lead and attacked us again from behind."

Dylan was pinned down and bloodied in the attack and actually ran home alone across busy roads in shock.

Liza was also left bleeding and Nicky received treatment at Milton Keynes University Hospital for injuries to her hands and stomach.

Nicky added: "I screamed at the lady to come and get him, but she did not know what to do. I think she was stunned.

"After a few minutes, a man came running over and helped hold the dog down."

Police are no longer investigating the incident and Nicky has told this newspaper she is now speaking to the owner about what happened.

ARE YOUR PENSIONS IN ORDER?

Have you built up a collection of different pension pots over your career? Do you know what to do with them? Are you fed up with the endless documentation you receive from your pension providers?Do your eyes glaze over when you read pension related paperwork? Do you wish you could make sense of it all?

Well the good news is that we are here to help! We specialise in organising people's financial affairs - especially their pensions. We understand that many people just don't like dealing with this aspect of their lives - a feeling I know all too well. Just ask me to do a DIY job, perhaps some painting and decorating and I would far rather pay someone else to do the job for me.

You see it's a question of whether or not you have the time, inclination and skill to do the task in hand. The good news is that we have all 3 when it comes to financial planning – just don't ask me to do any DIY work for you!

Tony Byrne
Managing Director
Wealth And Tax Management

We regularly review pensions for our clients. Sometimes it might be only one pension, other times it might be several. Our record number of pension reviews for one couple so far is 14!

When we review pensions we generally focus on 3 main areas:
Charges
Performance
Guarantees and benefits.

We also analyse money purchase pensions and assess whether or not clients should keep them or if it is in their best interests to transfer them to a different pension provider. In 8 out of 10 cases a switch is recommended.

The aim of the pension review exercise is to maximise returns, which in turn allows you to potentially either retire earlier or to retire on a larger pension.

The question you have to ask yourself is would you like to be in a position to either retire earlier or receive a larger pension at your normal retirement age?

Engaging arts project ends

A YEAR-LONG arts project at the Central Library finally came to a close on Thursday.

The Digitalis project brought together seven internationally renowned artists with more than 200 people getting involved and taking part in workshops and talks.

The Pestiferous Librarians helped to bring the library to life at the end with their fun and cheeky sketch show.

Cllr Liz Gifford, cabinet member for community services, said: "The project has been a very exciting and engaging one."

Starting ball rolling on sports complex

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS have been submitted for a sports pitch and pavilion complex near Milton Keynes Central rail station.

The application is for unused land that neighbours Network Rail's headquarters, The Quadrant.

The facilities would include a full sized 3G pitch, a tarmac games area and two full size tennis courts and would largely be funded by money from the development of the Quadrant in June, 2012.

Also included in the plans are changing room facilities, personal lockers, a sports bar offering drinks and snacks and two separate rooms for functions and parties.

However, it is unclear whether the proposed car park facilities would be available for all guests. Currently, the application states the car park would be for the use of disabled visitors or staff only – but it would accommodate mini-buses through prior agreement.

It is thought the complex would be run by MK Council and the application has been submitted by its Leisure and Communities Services.

Clive Faine, a member of the independent Milton Keynes Sports Board which advises the council and community, said: "We do support it. We understand it is likely to be run by the council, but the council needs to be sure that the business case works.

"We would also like to see the council commit to a long-term legacy that the site is always used for sporting facilities."

Aysha hopes of a bright future

Pillow People: Aysha Khatun with her co founders

AYSHA Khatun, 17, who is studying a combined English language and literature A-level, as well as biology, chemistry and maths, is one of the students who has used the Futures programme.

At the start of her A-levels university wasn't really an option for her, but she is now intending to go to either Bristol or Warwick to study English once her studies at MK Academy are over.

That decision came about after she went on a four-day residential visit to Cambridge University, which involved Aysha's first trip on a train.

"The school staff help you arrange visits and English is what I want to do," said Aysha.

"I had never been to a university before then and I didn't know what to expect – I just wasn't aiming that high."

While at the academy, she has also set up a bank account and created the Pillow People business with two other students.

They sold their products at the centre:mk in Middleton Hall – the first time Aysha had been there. It was part of the Futures programme, which boasts an impressive Enterprise Hub where students can find out more information about what job they wish to do when they leave school or which university they want to go to.

After initially wanting to design a pillow that lit up, Aysha and the rest of the team decided to make a children's line of toys, beanbags and books. The branding was all Aysha's idea.

"Her ability to keep the team together and her reliability was brilliant," said Ms Gockelen.

Giving students skills for work

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

IT HAS never been harder for young people to get a job, but one school is giving its pupils a helping hand on to the career ladder.

No longer is it acceptable just to have qualifications – employers are looking for people with the right experience and who present themselves in the correct way.

For young people who have never had a job after school, that can be a very difficult challenge, but MK Academy in Leadenhall has set up its Futures programme to help students get that all-important experience.

"The idea is to improve the confidence and presentation skills of the students," said Deborah Gockelen, director of business, enterprise and employability at the academy.

"We want to be able to give students a professional approach and we also do quite a bit of volunteering.

"Increasingly universities and employers are expecting people to come with experience and from a young age we want students to build up their CVs."

Headteacher Dara Carroll, Aysha Khatun and director of business, enterprise and employability at MK Academy, Deborah Gockelen

Pupils starting at the academy in Year Seven when they are 11 and 12 are taught the importance of thinking about their future careers.

Students wanting to go straight into work can make the most of the apprenticeships, work experience and workshops the academy has to offer. It already works with about 100 business partners in the city, including Nifylift, PJ Care and Nampak.

Those wanting to go to university can go on open days the academy helps organise.

Students are also encouraged to take an active part in the local community, with previous good deeds by pupils including tidying up a redway.

And the academy is holding a Dragons' Den day to which local businesses have been invited and will invest in a project the students present to them on November 19.

Alzheimer's study is awarded £370k

Research funding: Dr Cheryl Hawkes and her team are working on a four-year project on Alzheimer's treatment

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A DEMENTIA researcher based at The Open University in Milton Keynes has secured funding for a project that could pave the way for potential treatment.

Dr Cheryl Hawkes and her team are embarking on a four-year study into how a protein called amyloid is cleared from blood vessels in the brain and how this process could go awry in Alzheimer's disease.

The £370,000 project is being funded by Alzheimer's Research UK, the country's leading dementia research charity.

Alzheimer's disease is the result of physical changes in the brain. A build-up of the amyloid protein is an early feature of the disease, which damages nerve cells and can result in memory loss and personality change.

Researchers believe that clearing amyloid from the brain could be an important way to prevent Alzheimer's and Dr Hawkes will be investigating that process.

She said: "Blood flow in the brain is controlled by the release of chemical messengers from nerve cells that are damaged in the early stages of Alzheimer's.

"We hope to discover whether a loss of communication between nerve cells and blood vessels could lead to a build-up of amyloid and contribute to the development of Alzheimer's.

"We also plan to look at whether drugs that increase levels of these chemical messengers could improve the function of blood vessels and clear amyloid more effectively."

Dr Laura Phipps, of Alzheimer's Research UK, added: "We hope the knowledge gained from this study will help to pave the way to new treatments to help the people affected by the condition."

Window of opportunity: Miranda Loraso with the bra

All rosy as florist raises awareness

A FLORIST is raising awareness of breast cancer with a bra of roses.

Miranda Loraso, who works at Daisy Chain in Parneleys, Milton Keynes Village, made the bra out of 60 stems of single pink roses as part of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

She said: "We're well known for our window displays. Everyone knows someone who is affected by cancer."

Cabbies urged to install CCTV

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Council is set to actively encourage taxi drivers to install CCTV cameras in their vehicles.

The idea was discussed at a meeting of the taxi forum, held at Milton Keynes Council on Thursday.

The forum invites hackney carriage and private hire drivers to discuss issues within the trade with the council.

Adam Ward, a senior licensing practitioner for the council, told drivers: "We think it's a good idea and we want to encourage the trade to have CCTV. But we don't think at this point we should make it a requirement."

However, drivers raised concerns that police forces were sometimes reluctant to prosecute people captured on camera due to the poor quality of the images.

But Gavin Sokhi, a director of Skyline Taxis, felt that having cameras present would be beneficial to both drivers and passengers.

Skyline has had CCTV installed in 10 per cent of its private hire vehicles for the last three years.

Mr Sokhi said: "Every driver who has had it has had a much safer and enjoyable experience. And from our experience most passengers have felt safer as well."

Councillor Catriona Morris, who chaired the forum, said: "For us it's absolutely about making both the driver and passenger safer. But only council officers and police should be able to access any footage so we know it hasn't been tampered with."

Schools 'helping next young entrepreneurs'

BY JAMES AVERILL

james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A BUSINESSWOMAN who starred in The Apprentice TV show believes she is seeing a new generation of entrepreneurs growing up in Milton Keynes.

Jaz Ampaw-Farr began as a teacher with a passion for preventing literacy failure.

She is now a director of Which Phonics Ltd – providing teachers and parents with training and resources to boost reading, writing and spelling skills in children.

And through her work at schools in MK, three of which her own children attend, she is seeing a promising crop of youngsters coming through.

Jaz told MK NEWS: "There are so many entrepreneurial children out there and Milton Keynes is an absolutely fantastic place to do business.

"Two Mile Ash School is forever thinking outside the box about new ways to get the children thinking about business.

Fan: Jaz Ampaw-Farr, who took part in The Apprentice in 2013, says it is still her favourite show on television

"We don't want children leaving school in Milton Keynes just to get a job. We need job creators, innovators and leaders. I'm confident we're seeing them come through."

The 44-year-old, who lives in Grange Farm, took part in the BBC 1 show in 2013 and was the first candidate to be fired by Lord Sugar.

Now that the series returns to our screens this evening, Jaz prefers to watch it rather than take part in it.

She said: "The show does actually take business really seriously, which a lot of people don't realise.

"Lord Sugar isn't really looking for the person, he's looking for the money. That man has got a business brain like a shark and he considers nothing else.

"He's exactly as he is on the TV, he doesn't smile, he doesn't say please or thank you and he's completely straight talking.

"I don't regret going on. It's still my favourite show, but I prefer watching it on the sofa in my pyjamas and shouting at the TV."

Anger after note kicked into touch

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

A FAN who filmed staff at the Rugby World Cup Shop in Milton Keynes refusing to accept his Scottish money said a petition set up to ban English money in Scotland is 'a bit silly'.

Peter Mechan, who lives in Furzton and hails from north of the border, said he was 'embarrassed' that staff would not accept his £20 Scottish note when he tried to buy a scarf at the Fiji v Uruguay match last Tuesday.

He took a video of staff refusing to sell him the scarf and after putting it on Facebook the film went viral.

Mr Mechan said he hoped staff in the video hadn't been unduly punished but he did feel that it was important to raise the issue.

"I was more embarrassed and angry because you give money and it isn't good enough," said the 52-year-old, who only decided to go to the match the day before it took place.

"This is the first time I have had a problem with this in Milton Keynes. I've had a few people look at them and ask their manager to check them, but I've never been rejected for having a Scottish note.

Rejected: Peter Mechan whose £20 Scottish note wasn't accepted in Milton Keynes

"I felt personally insulted and I felt my country had been insulted. My aim in posting the video was to get the policy changed."

However, the video has sparked a petition from some Scots calling on the Scottish National Party to ban English money in Scotland.

Mr Mechan, an IT project manager, said: "I think it is a bit silly and the wrong way to go.

"I think the Bank of England notes and the Bank of Scotland notes should be accepted everywhere.

"It is a hostile move that sends out the wrong message and is not good for businesses."

Mr Mechan has since received an apology from The Rugby World Cup Shop and was told there was a 'misunderstanding.'

A spokesman told the Daily Record: "This has been a miscommunication at one of our outlets. It is an isolated incident and we have apologised to the customer concerned. We are sorry if it has offended anyone. It is certainly not our policy to not accept Scottish currency and staff and management have been briefed to that end."

When MK NEWS contacted the Rugby World Cup Shop we were told that nobody was available for comment.

Haka crowds try to set a world record

LOTS of enthusiastic residents of all ages turned up at the Fanzone in Campbell Park on Saturday for a haka world record attempt.

Everyone gave it their all but sadly organiser Matt Cover, from The Parks Trust, revealed that registration numbers showed they had not made the 5,000 people needed to apply for a Guinness World Record attempt.

Despite that, Corey Baker Dance group got everyone into the spirit and for a full five minutes everyone performed the haka before the dance group gave their own show.

Spectacle Wearer of the Year: stand-up comedian James Adenrele receives his award from former Spice Girl Emma Bunton

Picture: Adrian Brooks /Imagewise

James' specs appeal

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

CITY stand-up comedian James Adenrele has been named this year's Spectacle Wearer of the Year at what has become dubbed the Oscars for specs wearers.

The 27-year-old from Conniburrow received the award at a star-studded event hosted by TV presenter Bradley Walsh. He was chosen by a panel of expert judges and was handed the award by former Spice Girl and queen of the airwaves Emma Bunton, who kicked off the campaign earlier this year. James walked away with a luxury trip for two to the Bahamas staying at the Atlantis Paradise Island – which he has given to his mum and sister – a £10,000 cash prize and a £1,000 glasses wardrobe from Specsavers after being named the overall winner.

He was presented with his category winning trophy by Girls Aloud's Sarah Harding and was then called back on stage to receive the ultimate prize, beating six other finalists.

James said: "Attending the star-studded event felt like a prize in itself, so to go on and win Spectacle Wearer of the Year was amazing and very overwhelming. I am absolutely delighted to have won.

"I decided to give the Bahamas holiday to my mother and sister as I owe them everything and this is my way of saying thank you."

Celebrities were also rewarded on the night. Strictly star Kevin Clifton received Best Newcomer, while pop star couple Natasha Hamilton and Ritchie Neville got a special joint award for their specs style. TV icon Anne Robinson was awarded Services to Specs for her decades of dedicated glasses wearing.

Difficult decision: Willen Hospice's The Bookshop in Stony Stratford will be closing

Charity shop to close

BY CHRIS KNIGHT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

BOOK lovers have expressed their disappointment at the news a charity shop will close next year.

A notice posted on the door of The Bookshop in Stony Stratford's High Street indicates that due to a 'significant decline' in income and sales over the past five years, it will be closing in March.

The shop, run by Willen Hospice, opened in 2004.

Written by Lynn Reeves, retail manager for Willen Hospice, the open letter to customers says: "It is with deep regret we have to inform you that The Bookshop lease is up for renewal and after much discussion and reviewing, this shop will be closing in March 2016.

"We appreciate this is nothing to do with the lack of hard work or commitment from our staff and volunteers, but there are a number of factors that contributed to us making this decision. Over the last five years there has been a significant decline in income and sales.

"It has been a very difficult decision, but we hope that you will understand."

WHAT YOU HAVE SAID ABOUT THE CLOSURE

Simon Clawson: "I use it every time I go to Stony! I would say that the local property owners are pricing out businesses and need to be careful they don't kill their own high street. Once it's gone it's gone!
Richard Daubney: "Expensive books. I rarely go to Stony anyway, too many snobs there."
Emma Mead: "Such a shame"
Glenn Wheeler: "Please don't close it, I use this a lot."
Belinda Wilson: "A real shame."

Free classes to help people fall asleep

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

FREE classes to help people who struggle to get to sleep at night will take place later this month.

Milton Keynes-based Talk for Change, which helps people with mental health issues and is a part of the NHS, is running the programme for insomniacs.

The classes will be offering tips on how people can beat the mental block of not falling asleep.

"Everything in the human brain is triggered by an emotion," said Jon Olsen, programme manager at Talk for Change.

"In life we have to deal with criticism and the vast majority of people can deal with that aspect of their lives but we can start to self-perpetuate these things in our mind.

"These classes are a way of training yourself to say 'I need to look at the evidence' and this is dealing with the here and now and what has led you to this point."

People who don't believe they are good at their job are a prime example of people who might not be able to sleep at night.

The classes aim to get people to talk about why they feel they are not good at their job, look for any evidence that this is actually the case and try to find a positive way of looking at the problem.

The insomnia classes form part of a six-week programme that begins on Thursday, October 29, at 5.30pm. All sessions last 90 minutes.

'Exoplanets and how to find them'

Speaker: Professor Andrew Norton

All Welcome Admission Free

Twenty years ago, planets around other stars were the stuff of science fiction; yet today that fiction is a reality and we know of over 2000 so called exoplanets, with many more possible ones identified. In this talk you will learn a little of the history of this remarkable advance, and see just how exoplanets are discovered using a range of astronomical techniques. Some highlights from recent discoveries will be discussed, including those from the NASA Kepler satellite and from the SuperWASP project which staff at the Open University are involved with. Professor Norton will also describe the prospects for future discoveries of habitable Earth-like planets with the ESA PLATO mission, due for launch in the next decade.

Ballet dancers will bring love story to stage

THE English National Ballet is bringing the world's greatest love story to life at Milton Keynes Theatre next week, in the late Rudolf Nureyev's retelling of Romeo and Juliet.

The star-crossed lovers meet in renaissance Verona amid the backdrop of a piazza buzzing with market and street traders and a long-running feud between the Capulets and Montagues.

Created in 1977 to celebrate the Queen's Silver Jubilee and performed worldwide, Nureyev's award-winning production recreates the fateful series of events that culminate in a final, tragic embrace.

But before performing one of William Shakespeare's most famous plays, the English National Ballet is staging Lest We Forget, commemorating the events of The Great War.

For one night only, choreographers Liam Scarlett, Russell Maliphant and Akram Khan have created a triple bill of dance works full of unforgettable and haunting images.

A poignant reflection on the war, the performance has previously wowed audiences at Sadler's Wells and at Glastonbury Festival last year.

Lest We Forget will be performed on Tuesday at 7.30pm, before Romeo and Juliet opens on October 22 at the same time. There will then be matinee and evening performances until October 24.

Tickets are available from atgtickets.com, or by contacting the theatre's box office on 0844 871 7652.

This interactive exhibition at 6 Sunset Walk, near M&S, was designed and built by a team of dedicated volunteers and has objects that range from a 500,000-year-old hand axe and Saxon dog poo to a Second World War morse key.

This free exhibition, which closes on October 31, is open seven days a week during regular shopping centre hours.

GRAMMY award-winning singer songwriter Judy Collins has been on the music scene since the 1960s – but remains at the top of her game.

Judy Collins is performing at The Stables in Wavendon at 8pm on Sunday. Tickets cost from £22.50 at www.stables.org or call the box office on 01908 280800.

AMY CONVERSE, from Vets4Pets in Bletchley, writes her monthly column for MK LIFE. Here she details the problems of diabetes

DIABETES is an important concern for many people around the UK, but did you know dogs and cats can also suffer from the condition?

The most common type of diabetes that our pets get is type 2, which is caused by a variety of factors, but similar to people, can be brought on by obesity.

Symptoms of diabetes include increased thirst and urination and also weight loss despite a healthy appetite.

As the disease progresses, there can also be sickness along with further more serious symptoms. As pets age, it is reasonable to screen for diabetes by doing a simple blood or urine test at your veterinary surgery.

Also keeping your pet's weight down with diet and exercise is a good way to help prevent this serious disease.

Type 2 diabetes is managed with diet similar to people, but usually also has to involve giving injections of insulin twice daily.

Although diabetes is treatable, prevention is much preferred. If you have a concern that your pet could have type 2 diabetes, please contact your vet.

tastytapas

THE new Revolucion de Cuba is adding some spice to the once dreary Theatre District.

MK LIFE headed down for a sneak peek and to try out some of the tapas menu, which proved a big hit with the team.

So what exactly is on offer? Well there's plenty of choice, which is a good start. There were some light nibbles, including Cuban pork scratchings, fried banana crisps and a selection of nuts and tiny spicy rice cakes that were incredibly difficult to stop eating.

The patatas bravas – fried potatoes with a spicy tomato sauce and garlic aioli – was impressive as the potatoes remained crispy despite being smothered in the tasty spicy sauce.

A big hit on the table was the roasted chorizo, which tasted very authentic with a divine red wine and honey sauce.

Another popular dish was the gambas pil pil, succulent king prawns in a butter, chilli, lime and garlic marinade.

The other fish dish was the seabass ceviche, coated in avocado and sweet potato and drizzled with orange syrup. The flavours worked really well and the bass was lovely and flakey.

Then there were the nachos, which were as good as I have had anywhere.

As first impressions go I'll be heading back down to try out the menu in full. Then possibly moving to Cuba.

The New 308 GTi By Peugeot Sport

Remember, remember the fifth of November… because the iconic PEUGEOT GTi badge is returning to the medium car segment for the first time since the 1990s, and all is set for a thrilling performance. One of the most eagerly-anticipated new model launches of 2015, the 308 GTi by PEUGEOT SPORT is a high-end performance 'hot hatch' designed with the sophisticated and enthusiastic driver in mind.

Launched as a high-performance model for the 308 range – itself winner of the prestigious 2014 European Car of the Year – the 308 GTi has been extensively developed by PEUGEOT SPORT - the Brand's in-house team of motor sport engineers that boasts a wealth of expertise and success in the performance road car and international competition fields. The 308 GTi is the fourth road car project in three years following the critically acclaimed RCZ R, 208 GTi 30th and 208 GTi by PEUGEOT SPORT.

The letters GTi only ever feature on PEUGEOT products with the highest performance. An acronym of Grand Tourer Injection, it's a badge which has become shorthand for the hot hatch segment – a sector in which PEUGEOT has more than played its part. Products such as the 205 GTi and 309 GTi have acquired near-classic status in the decades since launch, and remain hugely popular with owners who appreciate their exceptional dynamic performance.

The 308 GTi continues in the same vein. Due to the dedication of the PEUGEOT SPORT team, the GTi offers customers a striking new interpretation of the 308's sleek exterior design, enhanced sports-oriented interior detailing and an unparalleled driving experience with strong desirability and following.

Powered by the most-powerful engine of its size, the state-of-the-art 1.6-litre THP petrol engine with Stop&Start (S&S) technology is available in two power outputs – 250hp and 270hp – with both providing impressive performance; limited to 155mph. Even the environmental credentials are class-leading, with CO2 emissions at just 139g/km, while official Combined Cycle fuel economy is 47.0mpg.

With both models weighing in at just 1205kg this enables the 308 GTi 250 to sprint to 62mph in just 6.2 seconds, with a power-to-weight ratio of just 4.82kg/hp. The 308 GTi 270 sets a new segment record for power-to-weight – at just 4.46kg/hp – and reaches 62mph in a mere 6.0 seconds flat.

Key to the appeal of the 270 GTi is its Torsen® limited-slip differential, fitted as standard. Designed to improve cornering by channeling the torque to the wheel with the greatest traction, it also makes it possible to drive faster around corners and enhance grip and handling.

The 270 GTi is also equipped with 2.3kg lighter 19" 'Carbone' lightweight alloy wheels shod with the latest Michelin Pilot Super Sport tyres. The design showcases the highly-capable 380mm ventilated front brake discs with solid red four-piston PEUGEOT SPORT signature calipers.

The 308 GTi boasts purposeful new styling, sitting 11mm lower to the ground than its siblings. Aggressive new front and rear design elements have been added, with six distinctive exterior colours available – new Ultimate Red, Pearlescent White, Magnetic Blue, Nera Black, Cumulus Grey and Hurricane Grey. For the most eye-catching look, a 'Coupe Franche' two-tone design is exclusive to the 308 GTi 270, contrasting Ultimate Red with Nera Black.

The interior has been carefully specified to complement the 308 GTi's exterior, subtly emphasising its sporting credentials. The door sill carries the PEUGEOT SPORT and GTi signature, while the foot pedals, foot rest and gear knob are finished in aluminum. Red stitching features on the upholstery, door panels, gear lever and premium floor mats. The GTi 270 features PEUGEOT SPORT race-inspired seats, upholstered in leather effect and Alcantara, which provide enhanced lateral support.

The compact steering wheel – an integral part of the 308's acclaimed PEUGEOT i-Cockpit cabin design – provides natural grip and precise direction. It features full-grain leather with a GTi logo at the base and a red centring mark at the top. The head-up display instrument panel read-outs has a chequered backdrop, and a GTi greets the driver on start-up. A 9.7" centrally mounted touch-screen forms a seamless part of the instrument panel, with its Redline theme adding a final touch of flair to the interior. Standard equipment on the 308 GTi includes a Driver Sport Pack, which allows owners to ramp up the high-octane feel. Pressing the Sport button on the centre console switches the display colour from white to red, and shows additional information on the central read-out. It also enhances engine noise growl and changes the accelerator pedal mapping.

Also standard is red 'PEUGEOT' lettering on the grille, sports side skirts, new twin exhaust system with black diffuser, GTi badging, full LED headlamps, front LED sequential indicators, reversing camera, front and rear parking sensors, PEUGEOT Open & Go (keyless entry & push button start), satellite navigation and DAB digital radio. The GTi 250 has 18-inch 'Diamant' alloy wheels while the GTi 270 the larger 19" 'Carbone' lightweight alloy wheels.

The PEUGEOT 308 GTi 250 is priced at £26,555 on the road, while the PEUGEOT 308 GTi 270 (which has more power, the Torsen differential, 19" wheels, larger front brakes and sports seats) is priced at £28,155. The sports seats at £800 and 19" 'Carbone' lightweight alloy wheels with Michelin Super Sport tyres at £800 are available separately on the GTi 250 model. The exclusive Coupe Franche with Ultimate Red / Nera Black paint finish (exclusive to the GTi 270 model only) is £1,300.

Volvo XC90

STEP IT UP

Less is most definitely not more when it comes to the second generation Volvo XC90. Bigger, bolder and more technologically advanced than ever, it's a long way removed from its low-key predecessor. The interior's beautifully finished and the focus is on downsized, efficient engines.

Key to understanding the dynamics of this second generation XC90 is the fact that it runs on the all-new chassis based on Volvo's Scalable Product Architecture (SPA). Yes, it's Volvo's take on the infinitely customisable chassis systems like Volkswagen's MQB and will inevitably underpin a whole host of next-generation models. In this guise, it's lighter, stronger and safer than the old XC90 chassis, but despite an increase in vehicle dimensions, this XC90 downsizes its engines. You'll find no Yamaha V8s this time round, just a range of engines from the marque's green-tinted Drive-E family.

The flagship engine is the 320PS T6 petrol, which utilises both turbo and supercharging, while most British customers will inevitably walk straight past that to look instead at the 225PS D5 twin turbodiesel. Both engines drive all four wheels via the almost obligatory eight-speed automatic transmission. The other option is the T8 Twin Engine petrol/electric plug-in hybrid model, billed as 'the world's most powerful and cleanest SUV' This delivers a combined 412PS output, with a thumping 640Nm of torque. 62mph from rest is dispatchd in just 5.6s, yet this car can also gve you 26 miles of pure electric driving range when fully charged.

Whatever you think of Volvo's latest design direction, it's hard to ignore. The XC90 has a very big face. Even the 'iron mark' grille badge has been updated, while the headlamps now get T-shaped "Thor's Hammer" daytime running lights. The intricately shaped bonnet is an XC90 trope and that continues, blended into even more complex forms. The beltline and the sharpened shoulders connecting with the distinctive new rear lights are other design signatures that will be mirrored across the range. Wheels? They're big too, with alloys of up to 22 inches being offered.

The interior is even more boldly-styled, with a massive tablet-like touch screen control console helping to create an interior that is modern, spacious and uncluttered. Volvo's clearly put a lot of budget into driving up materials quality and this XC90 gets soft leather and wood with handcrafted details, including a gear lever made of crystal glass from Orrefors, the Swedish glassmaker, and diamond-cut controls for the start/stop button and volume control. This genuine seven seater features innovatively designed seats that also free up interior space for passengers in both the second and third seat rows. Even the third row can seat a adult up to 170cm tall.

Well, it's certainly different. Volvo has responded to an explosion in the big SUV market by bringing us an XC90 that's unrecognisable from the former model. It's bigger, bolder and, yes, a little brasher but with Chinese owners and a Chinese market that loves big and shiny, that was perhaps inevitable. The Cotswold set might be disappointed by the extrovert exterior but it's hard not to love the sheer audacity of the XC90's cabin, complete with its tablet-style input screen, brilliant safety systems and continuing focus on comfort.

Clearly Volvo's punt is that for every existing XC90 buyer who finds the latest car infra dig, there will be countless more attracted to the marque, and these will probably be valuable conquest sales from the likes of Audi, BMW and Mercedes. Adapt or perish, now as ever, is nature's inexorable imperative. This XC90 is Volvo's natural progression.

RUGBY UNION

BLETCHLEY moved down to 10th in Southern Counties North after they were beaten 51-12 at Aylesbury. In the Berks/Bucks and Oxon Premier League, Milton Keynes beat Wheatley 45-18, while in the Midlands Two East (South), Olney lost 21-12 against Oadby Wyggestonians.

NON-LEAGUE FOOTBALL

NEWPORT Pagnell inflicted a first United Counties League Premier Division defeat of the season on Kirby Muxloe with a 1-0 home win courtesy of a Josh Crawley goal four minutes from time.

Olney scored four goals in extra time as they beat Aylesbury Dynamos 6-2 in the Berks and Bucks Intermediate Cup second round. New Bradwell St Peter lost 6-0 at Hale Leys United and in the Spartan South Midlands Division One Cup, they lost 3-2 against Arlesey Town Reserves. Wolverton Town lost 4-2 at APBS. Clean Slate lost 7-3 at Aston Clinton while Comet MK lost 6-1 against Old Bradwell United.

In the Buckingham Charity Cup first round, Wolverton Town lost 4-3 in an exciting game against Olney Town.

ATHLETICS

MARSHALL Milton Keynes Athletics Club took 120 athletes to open their latest Chiltern Cross-Country League campaign at Keysoe, just north of Bedford, and MMKAC were just beaten to top spot by host club Bedford and County AC.

Liam Smith and Steve Tuttle were sixth and seventh in the 10km race, but getting their scoring 10 athletes in the top 37 was quite an achievement and bodes well for the remainder of the season. Lara Bromilow finished third in the women's event.

There were nine MMKAC runners at the Peterborough Half-Marathon where almost 4,000 finished. Jonathan Peters led the club home, 22nd in 74.01.

HOCKEY

MILTON Keynes Ladies are still unbeaten in the South Clubs Womens Hockey League Division 3A as they beat Eastcote 4-0. Lisa Kavanagh, a Thea Jackson brace and Nuria Lavado got the goals.

Ali McColl scored Milton Keynes men's goal as they got their first South Hockey League Premier Division One point of the season with a 1-1 draw at London Wayfarers.

BADMINTON

STANTONBURY Arts and Leisure, Badminton England and Stantonbury Campus have agreed a partnership which has led to a successful bid to re-floor Ashurst Sports Hall at Stantonbury Leisure Centre. The championship-grade flooring for playing badminton will cost £30,000 and the bid was made to Badminton England. Work will start on re-flooring the sports hall on October 26.

SWIMMING

NEWPORT Pagnell Swimming Club had a fantastic start to the season as they competed at the Leicester Penguins Open Meet. An impressive haul of 10 gold medals, 13 silver medals and 13 bronze medals was made by the club.

TABLE TENNIS

IT was a rare defeat for champions MK Spinners as MK Sasaki beat them 6-4, while MK Kingpins beat Greenleys Kings 7-3. A timely return from injury by Neil Riddy inspired MK Walking Wounded to their first win of the season over MK Phoenix and a consolation win by Biao Wang over Martin Hall was all MK Powers could muster in their 9-1 defeat at Greenleys Monarchs, for whom Dan Appanna and Nigel Metcalfe got hat-tricks.

Happy at home: Russian Daniil Kvyat finished fifth at the Grand Prix in Sochi

Adrian Newy: 'Red Bull being forced out'

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

RED Bull haven't ruled out working with Renault as their engine supplier next year despite the breakdown in their relationship.

The two looked set to part ways after disappointing performances in races this season, but with Red Bull rebuffed by Mercedes and Ferrari, the team's options are looking more limited.

Adrian Newy, the team's technical chief, believes Red Bull are being 'forced out' of the sport.

"We're possibly going to be forced out of Formula 1 – Mercedes and Ferrari have refused to supply us out of fear," Newy told Reuters on Monday.

But Christian Horner told Sky Sports F1: "Nothing is officially finished with Renault yet. It's difficult to envisage how we go forward – but this is Formula 1 and nothing is impossible. Everything's open."

Daniil Kvyat raced at his home Grand Prix in Russia at the weekend and finished fifth.

Kvyat pondered on whether the strategy was right after the race but praised the fans, who were very much on his side in Sochi.

"You could say we could have run a slightly better strategy, but you can never be completely sure how these things will turn out," said Kvyat.

"It was nice to see all the people that came here to support me today, it's a great feeling and hopefully it will continue and get better and better."

Daniel Ricciardo did not finish the race after starting from 10th and he believed an issue with the suspension was responsible for his DNF.

"I'm happy with how I drove but it's a shame we don't have any points to show for it," said Ricciardo.

Lightning on top after busy week

FINN Marko Luomala ensured MK Lightning's weekend ended on a high with the game winning shot after overtime to seal a 4-3 victory at Sheffield Steeldogs on Sunday.

It followed the disappointing 3-1 loss at Basingstoke Bison the previous day and a poor start for the city outfit which saw them 3-1 behind at the first break against Steeldogs.

Lightning eventually drew level two minutes into the third period thanks to Jordan Cownie. There were no further goals in regulation or overtime, thus requiring MK's first shootout of the season.

It took six shots before either goalie was beaten and then Lightning netminder Dean Skinns denied Andrew Hirst to seal the win. Skinns was making his first start for Lightning since being withdrawn in the earlier 5-4 defeat by Steeldogs.

Lightning began the game without key players Markku Tahtinen with a dead leg and Bobby Chamberlain as well as Luc Johnson.

The defeat followed Lightning's 6-4 midweek success over Manchester Phoenix at MK Arena – a scoreline which failed to do justice to the home side's dominance.

Captain Adam Carr put MK 2-0 in front with two quick first period goals before Cownie and Hook extended the advantage to four in the second session.

A Luomala strike after 31 minutes sandwiched three middle period goals for Phoenix by Robin Kovar, Matthew Maurice and James Neil.

Cownie made sure of victory with his goal after 44 minutes before Kovar got one back on the powerplay for Phoenix.

Next Saturday Lightning host Basingstoke Bison at 7pm ahead of a visit to Bracknell Bees the following day.

The results nevertheless returned Lightning back to the top of the table, although they have played more games than their rivals.

DONS COLUMN

DONS' kit man Tony Hawkins brings his exclusive Tales of the Kit Room to MK NEWS

THAT day in May. You know the one.

We had no lofty expectations but a mild sprinkling of hope. Colchester were staring relegation in the face and Preston, unbeaten in 18 matches, were favourites for automatic promotion.

We were 4-0 up at half time (100 league goals achieved) and, with the second half in its infancy, a huge roar went up around the stadium. Colchester had won a penalty! Then the stadium fell silent when Colchester missed the penalty.

I was on my phone non-stop having been instructed to keep track of events at Colchester. With around 20 minutes remaining, Samir joined me on the bench repeatedly asking "What's the score?" By now the phone network had given up and I had no idea what was going on. Then Colchester scored. From that point on I have few recollections. I can remember the roar when the final whistle went at Colchester.

The players on the bench were dancing on the touchline and then our final whistle went and I found myself on the pitch wondering "How am I going to get back to the changing room?!" as I fought my way through the throng, receiving hugs from what seemed like every single Dons fan on the pitch with me.

I finally made it to the changing room to find it (and everyone in there) sticky with champagne. The lads were dancing around for the media holding a "We're Going Up" banner.

I stood and watched for a while before we were ushered on to the pitch for an amazing lap of honour, with me carrying my grandson in my arms. I took a moment to stand in front of the Cowshed and savour the moment.

It's a day I will never forget and I'm very proud to have been part of the group that achieved it.

Fears for Red Bull's F1 future – page 67

Robbo: First 10 matches have been excellent

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

DONS boss Karl Robinson has rated his team's first 10 games as 'excellent'.

Although results haven't been going their way, and they are without a league win since August, Robinson believes the team's performances in the Championship deserve better than their current points tally and 19th position.

He said: "I rate the first 10 games as excellent. The performances have been sensational and the fans have been equally as good.

"We're in 19th, which is tremendous for us. There are some components I could be happier with, but nobody at the club can be faulted. I couldn't be prouder."

Now Robinson hopes that a late equaliser against Bristol City before the international break – which halted a run of six straight defeats in all competitions – could signal an upturn in form.

That, coupled with an intensive three-day training session in Portugal during the break, has left Robinson in a positive frame of mind before their home game against Blackburn Rovers on Saturday.

Robinson said: "We don't see it as a run of defeats, we see it as a run of great performances we should have more from.

"I know Blackburn very well, I spent some time there and I have a tremendous affinity for the club.

"But we're going into this game full of confidence. We have a game plan and if we stick to it, and lady luck is on our side, then we can win any game."

Poulter's pride at British Masters

IAN Poulter has spoken of how pleased he was after Woburn Golf Club hosted the British Masters.

It was the first time that the British Masters had been on the golfing calendar since 2008 and as tournament host, the popular Poulter decided to choose Woburn as the location.

He is the professional at the club and he thanked the 57,000 fans that turned up between Thursday and the culmination of the tournament on Sunday.

"Woburn have done an amazing job," Poulter, 39, told Sky Sports.

"To bring this tournament back and have the fans come out the way they have is incredible. We had 15,000 fans here on Thursday and we've had something similar every day.

"They've come out in their thousands and that's what this place needs.

"British golf has been away for too long and this tournament, being able to bring it back the way we have, has been a huge honour.

"I'm very proud to be associated with this course and the golf club itself.

"It's just a shame I couldn't do it this week, my game just isn't quite there."

Poulter finished the week on four under par, 11 shots off the lead and he said that he needed to sit down and work out how to improve his game.

Matthew Fitzpatrick, 21, was the victor of the British Masters, finishing on -15 and two shots ahead of Ireland's Shane Lowry, Dane Soren Kjeldsen and Paraguay's Fabrizio Zanotti.

Fitzpatrick managed four birdies in seven holes on the back nine to secure the Sheffield man's first ever European Tour title.

"The fans were incredible and I can't thank them enough," Fitzpatrick told the BBC.

He beat Justin Rose in becoming the youngest ever winner of the competition and he led his rivals from the very first day.
